THE GREEN LIGHTS ARE ON IN M'KINNEY and COLLIN COUNTY

Mc Kinney Daily Courier-Gazette

YOUR HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER for over 50 YEARS

NOTHING COVERS THE HOMETOWN MARKET LIKE THE HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER

ESTABLISHED MARCH 4, 1897 | UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATION FULL LEASED WIRE | M'KINNEY, TEXAS, MONDAY, MARCH 11, 1957 | SIX PAGES | NEWS PICTURES BY NEA TELEPHOTO | FIFTY-EIGHTH YEAR

YOUR HOME Towners would like to give roses to a lot of folks that helped carry the school bond election but one group we owe a lot of gratitude to. The school children of McKinney worked hard and we believe, in many instances prayed that it would carry. And so it did. We must always remember that the education of our children is a part of Christian living and we must always do what we can for our youth. And again Your Home Towners would like to say "thanks" to everyone that played a part in the recent bond election. "Let's Keep The Green Lights On" forever for our schools.

▼ ▼ ▼

YOUR HOME Towners wired Speaker of The House Sam Rayburn the following:

"The people of McKinney by a vote of almost two to one gave the green lights for new schools in McKinney. We feel that the Veterans Administration will be glad to know this. We hope that we can start immediately the renovation and repair of the Veterans Hospital here in McKinney that Congress voted $2,000,000.00 for. Likewise work is progressing on our new $1,350,000.00 County Hospital. Thanks for the many fine things that you have done not only for your district but for America."

▼ ▼ ▼

Your Home Towners Creed is this;

Happiness is the only good
The place to be happy is here
The time to be happy is now
The way to be happy is to make others so.

A TAXING PROBLEM

TAIPEI (UP). — The "kindness" of the Nationalist Chinese tax collectors costs the government some $10 million a year. Vice-Finance Minister Chen Han-ping reported the people owned the government more than 250 million Formosan dollars $10 million U. S. in 1955 alone. He accused the tax collectors of being "too kind" since no arrests were made and no shop was colsed for failing to pay taxes.

A woman will look in a mirror almost any time except when she is pulling out of a parking place.

Samples of contaminated air were taken in an effort to determine what types of gases made up the noxious vapors. (NEA Telephoto)

Champ Drowns In Search For Bodies

★ ★ ★

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UP).—Apolonio Castillo, Mexican Olympic swimming champion was drowned early today while searching Acapulco harbor for the bodies of two murdered New York tourists.

Castillo, 32, was one of several frogmen looking for the bodies of attorney Joseph Michel, 70, and Mrs. Edith Hallock, 63, who were killed and tossed into the harbor by a Mexican travel agent and his illiterate handy man.

Castillo, who represented Mexico in the 1956 Olympics, was wearing an aqualung when he disappeared. It was not known if his oxygen failed.

Luis Fenton, 33, a hotel tourist agency owner, and Daniel Rios admitted Sunday they beat Michel and Mrs. Hallock to death with a baseball bat on Feb. 20, after robbing them of $80,000 worth of jewelry and about $160 in cash. The victims' bodies, bound in chains, were tossed from a glass-bottomed boat.

◆ ◆ ◆

A Simple Boat Ride.

"It was just a matter of arranging a simple boat ride," mastermind Fenton, 33, told police.

Rios, 35-year-old father of five children, who worked for Fenton for $1.60 a day, said Fenton offered him 30,000 pesos $2,400 to bludgeon Michel and the wealthy widow with a baseball bat.

The fatal voyage in a glass bottom boat lasted only 40 minutes, the murderers said, then they returned to shore and calmly took another tourist couple out into the bay to fish until 1 a.m.

Police took the confessed killers out on the boat Sunday to re-enact the crime a mile off this famous scenic resort.

The men said Michael was killed first as Fenton held the struggling Mrs. Hallock while Rios knocked her unconscious. "Just like I was hitting out home runs," Rios said.

"Michel never knew what hit him," he said.

◆ ◆ ◆

"It Was Simple"

When Mrs. Hallock leaped to her feet, Fenton grabbed her while Rios hit her with the bat, according to the confessions.

"It was simple," Rios said. "there was no struggle. There was only one little yelp. I don't think they really knew what hit them."

Rios told police he did not hesitate when Fenton offered him 30,000 pesos to wield the bat.

"I would die for 30,000 pesos," he said. "It was just the same to me—murder or robbery—when I heard about the 30,000 pesos."

Rios said he was "only a little sorry" for what he had done and "probably" would do it again, "if I got the chance."

JUDGE RULES SUICIDE

GALVESTON (UP). — Justice of the Peace James L. McKenna ruled suicide in the fatal shooting of Manning B. Robison, 55, Sunday night. Robison's body was found by his wife in a garage back of their house, with a gun laying in front of it.

Melvin Belew Announces For School Trustee

To Whom It May Concern:

In April there will be an election in the McKinney Independent School District for the purpose of electing two school trustees. Two, from what ever group of candidates who may have announced themselves as such, will be elected. This statement is for the purpose of making known to the voters and patrons of the McKinney Independent School District, that my name, Melvin Belew, will be one of the names to appear on the ballot for that election.

Herein, I make no promises. It has been my observation, and, even my experience, on occasion, that promises sometimes become terribly difficult to keep. And when promises are made and not kept, regardless of why, it makes for much unfavorable reaction on the part of those to whom such promises are made.

It would only reflect on my modesty for me to say I've done this, and I've done that, and my experience has been such and so. My place of residence has been in the McKinney Independent School District for more than twenty years. Due to the nature of my activities in the district during the past twenty years, I feel that my presence here is well enough known that I should not repeat what you already know, nor should I attempt to change any opinions which you've already formed.

I'm not even asking you to vote for me. I want you to vote for WHOM you would have serve you as a member of the school board. If I am not the person you'd like to have serve you, your voting for the other candidates will in no wise offend me. Whether you vote for me or not, one thing I would like to have—your good will—the kind of good-will that all of us should reflect toward each other.

Very Sincerely Yours,
MELVIN BELEW.

Jap Foreign Office Asks Tests Suspension

TOKYO (UP).—The Japanese Foreign Office announced today it had appealed to the Soviet Union to suspend all further nuclear tests.

The demand, delivered in Moscow two days ago, followed three formal protests to Britain asking it to call off its Christmas Island hydrogen bomb experiments.

Japan also recalled that in February last year it delivered to the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union resoultions adopted by the Japanese parliament appealing to the three major powers to suspend nuclear tests.

Large Unexploded Bomb Found In Racially-Troubled Tennessee

★ ★ ★

By ED ROGERS
United Press Staff Correspondent

Police Sunday night found an unexploded powerful bomb consisting of 1-5 pounds of dynamite in a gallon pail and connected with cap and fuse in a Negro section of racially troubled Clinton, Tenn.

Police said someone placed the bomb in front of a Negro home but changed his mind about setting it off after his car developed engine trouble.

The bomb was planted at a spot on Foley Hill, scene of a series of dynamitings and other disorders since the court-ordered integration of the Clinton High School erupted in riots last August and September.

Segregationist John Kasper, twice cited for contempt of federal court for his part in Clinton's Earlier racial troubles, was haled before a Florida legiselative committee hearing todmay.

Kasper is "Grateful".

Kasper, who has been busy the past week organizing Florida branches of his Seaboard Citizens Council, said he was "grateful" for a chance to tell the committee about his plan for keeping the state segregated.

Rep. Henry Land, committee chairman, said Kasper will be asked who is financiang his Florida visit at the hearing in Tallahassee, Fla.

The committee subpeaned nearly a score of Negroes and several of Kasper's followers for this two-pronged investigation of the councils and of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The committee subpenaed David Hawthorne, one of Kasper's men in Miami, and Hampton Shaver, a member of Kasper's rank who admitted informing on Kasper to the NAACP the police and to newspaper reporters.

Another Kasper follower, John Gates of Clinton, Tenn., meanwhile was transferred to a hospital for observers following his arrest on charges of breaking glass doors and windows at Clinton High.

◆ ◆ ◆

Tries Suicide.

Gates, co-defendant with Kasper in the contempt citation connected with racial troubles at Cliton, made two attempts to kill himself after the incident Early Sunday, police said.

Clinton Police Chief Francis Moore said Gates cut his wrists with a pocket knife when police accused him of vandalism at the school and tried to hang himself after being jailed.

A Negro history professor added a weekend footnote to the upheavals at the little Alcorn, Miss., A. & M. College for Negroes by announcing he will turn in his resignation "for the good of the school."

A series of newspaper articles in which Prof. Clennon King criticized all-out Negro drives for racial integration touched off a protest walkout by all but 50 of the 570 students and the dismissal of College President J. R. Otis.

Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins of the NAACP defended King's right to criticize his own race and even the NAACP itself.

Wilkins in a wire from New York to student council president Ernest McEwen said the NAACP "deplores any pressure which denied King free speech" on integration.

School Bonds Carry

★ ★ ★

Voters in the McKinney Independent School District approved a $2,080,000 school bond issue here Saturday by approximately a 2-to-1 vote.

The bond issue provides for the construction of a new high school, work to begin at once, and other buildings and improvements throughout the system.

A steady stream of voters visited the polls all day Saturday from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. More than usual interest was manifest in the election.

Each voter was given two ballots, one for the adoption of Senate Bill No. 116, Chapter 528, Acts of 54th Legislature at its regular session 1955. The voters favored the proposition as follows:

For, 1,113.
Against, 619.

The second ballot carried two propositions, one for maintenance tax, which was approved as follows:

For, 1,115.
Against, 561.

Proposition No. 2, for issuance of bonds and the levying of the tax in payment thereof, carried as follows:

For, 1,118.
Against, 519.

McKinney has been in dire need of a new high school for several years, as well as other buildings, or additions to some of the present buildings. Plans for a new high school have already been approved by the school board, work to begin soon. Future plans call for a new junior high school and an additional elementary school.

Mass Polio Inoculation Set In Frisco

Mayor Benton Staley of Frisco, announces that the Frisco Lions Club is sponsoring a polio immunization clinic for West Collin and East Denton counties. This clinic will be held at the Cafetorium of Frisco High School in a series of two shots to be given on Sunday, March 17, and Sunday, March 31, from 12:00 noon to 5:00 p. m. These shots are free and no charge will be made or donations accepted for this service.

Lion Dr. E. G. Pink and his staff, assisted by volunteer registered nurses, will give these shots. This is open to everyone at all ages regardless to race, color, or creed, but a special emphasis should be placed on people under fifty years of age.

Three-Year-Old Boy Dies In Clothes Dryer

HOUSTON (UP). — A three-year-old boy who liked to play and hide in small, dark places was beaten and burned to death in an automatic clothes dryer Sunday.

The victim was David Dundas, son of a television station, KPRC-TV announcer, Robert Bob Dundas Jr.

The boy's battered body was found in the whirling, hot chamber of the dryer when Dundas heard a "thump, thump" sound coming from the dryer.

Dundas told police he had warned the boy many times about playing near the dryer, which was located in the garage of the Dundas' home.

Dundas said the boy had been playing in the back yeard with his brother, Chris, 5 and sister, Susan, 2, while Mr. and Mrs. Dundas were inside the house.

David must have wandered off into the garage alone, Dundas said.

Police theorized the curious boy climbed into the machine through the door on its front. Closing of the door put the machine in operation.

The "thump" sound that attracted Dundas apparently was caused by the boy's weight throwing the mechanism off balance, police said.

Deputy medical examiner Howard Gossage said David was burned over his entire body, his left leg was broken and his head and body was severely cut and bruised.

Funeral services were set for 2 p. m. today.

Earthquakes Strike Vicinity Aleutians

★ ★ ★

(By United Press)

Two new strong earthquakes were reported today in the vicinity of the Aleutian Islands where two severe shocks on Saturday rolled a damaging tidal wave across the Pacific.

Fordham University seismographs recorded the latest quake at 5:09:94 and 5:17:29 a.m. EST from a distance of 4,200 miles northwest of New York City. The Rep. Joseph Lynch estimated the new shock had an intensity of 5, which he described as "destructive, but a rip-snorter."

The Saturday quake which fanned a destructive tidal wave against the shores of Hawaii, Japan and California, had an estimated force of 8.

Father Lynch also reported that a quake, also with an intensity of 5, was recorded at 10:23:36 p.m. (EST) Sunday. A similar shock was reported to have been recorded Sunday morning at 10: 35:38 EST.

Two persons lost their lives as an indirect result of Saturday's tidal wave in Hawaii. Sarah Park, 19, reporter from the Honolulu Star Bulletin, and a pilot, Paul Beam, were killed when the small plane from which they were observing the tidal wave crashed into the ocean.

Gov. Samuel Wilder King of Hawaii declared the north coast of Kauai Island a disaster area. Territorial officials estimated the damage at "hundreds of thousands of dollars."

The tidal wave washed away two small villages, destroying 30 homes and four bridges. Damage was slight elsewhere in the Hawaiian Islands but the beaches were littered with dead fish and debris.

GERMANS EXPORT RED PLANES

BERLIN (UP).—East German Communists plan to export Soviet-type commercial planes built by the Reds at the new state-owned factory near Dresden, it was reported Tuesday. The East Berlin newspaper National Zeitung said the Soviet IL 74B two-engined airliner is ready for export. The Communists also are working on a jet commercial liner for export purposes, the paper said.

ADOPTION LIST CLOSED

HULL, England, (UP).—The Welfare Department here has closed its adoption lists because unwed mothers are keeping their children, it was reported Tuesday. "Girls don't seem to be so embarrassed now by keeping illegitimate children," a National Adoption Society official said. "welfare services are better, and a girl can go out to work and leave her child in a day nursery."

Seventh Victim Of Head-On Collision Dies

LEWISVILLE, Tex. (UP).—The seventh victim of a head-on collision which killed five members of a Dallas family near Lewisville over the week-end died in a Denton hospital early today.

The latest victim was Dean Shields, 26, of Whitesboro.

A seven-year-old girl remained in critical condition with injuries received in the accident which wiped out her family.

The other dead were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lewis James, both 33, of Dallas, and three of their children, Larry, 9, Robert, 3 and Tommy, and Paul Anthony Montgomery, 25, Whitesboro, the driver of the other car.

Mary Alice James was hospitalized in Denton in critical condition.

The head-on collision occurred about 1 a.m. Sunday south of Lewisville on U.S. 77.

Police Launch Statewide Hunt For Tatooed Man

HOUSTON (UP). — Police launched a statewide manhunt today for a lanky, tatooed 43-year-old stablehand charged with raping an eight-year-old girl.

The little attack victim was hospitalized after undergoing surgery following the attack early Sunday on a deserted bridle path in Memorial Park.

The wanted man, believed to have been a former circus clown, was charged with criminal assault at midnight Sunday night. He was identified as Theodore Slim Wendt.

Wendt, who had worked at the park stables only for about a month, had a coiled snake tatooed across his back, a big American flag on his chest, a saddle on one arm and a woman and snake on the other.

Police said the attack occurred about 1 a. m. Sunday while the little girl was taking a riding lesson. The girl was found limping along a bridle path by another rider, Mrs. J. L. Modas.

Tornado Season Ushered In Texas By Cold Front

BY UNITED PRESS

A cold front which ushered the tornado season into Texas Sunday night brought up to an inch of rain to Central and Northeast Texas and whipped up a dust storm in West Texas.

Strong North winds back of the front kicked up dust and cut visibility to two miles at Childress today. Amarillo reported blowing dust and visibility of five miles. The heaviest rainfall overnight was at Richland, eight miles South of Corsicana.

◆ ◆ ◆

Showers Widespread.

The cold front pushed a squall line across the state last night and the weather bureau issued storm warnings from 7 p. m. to 3 a. m. Sunday.

A series of thunderstorms hit sections of the state from San Angelo North to the Red River and across Northeast Texas.

Waco reported .89 of an inch of rain, College Station had .82, Lufkin .69, Junction .46 and Dallas .20.

Tornado warnings were issued on a line from Childress to Tulsa, Okla., and from San Angelo to Tyler Sunday night, but no sereve storms were reported.

Other Rainfall Reports.

Rain also fell overnight at Del Rio, El Paso, San Angelo, Austin, Fort Worth and Mineral Wells.

The cold front was 50 miles South of Amarillo at 8 a. m. today and was expected to move slowly Southeastward. Forecasters called for more rain developing in Central Texas late today and moving Eastward.

Continued warm temperatures in South Texas and mild readings for the Northern half were forecast through Tuesday. Overnight lows ranged from 35 at Dalhart to 71 at Brownsville.

Laredo's high of 89 degrees Sunday was the warmest temperature in the nation.

Dulles Warns U. S. Actions Are Backed By Power

CANBERRA, Australia (UP). — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles warned Monday that America is determined to respond to its security pact obligations and that "the determination is backed by power."

But Dulles also said, "We can confidently conclude . . . that inter national communism now imposed upon many of the peoples of Asia is a passing and not a permanent phase."

He spoke at the opening session of the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization Council. The council in planning the defense of Southeast Asia against increased Communist activity in the area.

U.S. cooperation with "out Asian partners" continues through bilateral arrangements for economic and technical assistance and cultural exchange, Dulles said.

He said these include the recent program of SEATO cultural grants, U.S. membership in the Colombo plan, and its bilateral agreements of sharing knowledge and materials for the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

ENCOURAGING GRADUATION DAY

THE EMERGENCE of Ghana, formerly the Gold Coast, as a newly independent nation in Africa is another occasion for rejoicing in the free world.

Under British control, the Gold Coast grew to become a model of good colonial management. Yet in today's fever of emotionalism over colonial activities, even a model might not have endured for long.

Wisely the British have understood this and they are now stepping out. Thus the map of Africa, which boasts more individual political entities than any continent on earth, gets one more national flag which can fly proudly on its own.

The example of Ghana should not be lost either on other colonial powers represented in Africa, nor on the emerging peoples of both Africa and Asia.

Its coming of age is evidence that clear-thinking Western leaders are not bent on maintaining colonial domination at all costs but are ready to hand freedom to any who are ready to use it.

Edson's Day Is A Full One — But Full of What Is Mystery

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — My Day. Washington is usually such a lovely city it raises the spirits, but last Monday our nation's capital was almost frustrating and somewhat depressing.

It began with a John C. Hollister presse conference. He is the head of our International Cooperation Administration which handles nonmilitary foreign aid programs.

He has just come back from a threeweek trip around the world. It seems only yesterday he bid us goodby.

Mr. Hollister told us a most interesting story about getting lost in the snow, driving down the Kubul River gorge over unfinished mountain roads of Afghanistan.

Mr. Hollister said we have friends in Afghanistan, but that he was the first VIP who had been there in three years. He was even photographed shaking hands with the Russian ambassador. He said the foreign minister and the prime minister are married to the king's sisters. What a jolly family they must be.

LATER MET MR. HOLLISTER in the hall. He said he had many other interesting experiences. In India he had to lay a wreath on Mahatma Ghandi's burning ghat, or funeral pyre.

After lunch most of these same reporters and some others went to a briefing by Mr. Benpamin Fairless. He is the former steel company executive who is now coordinator of the President Citizen Advisers on the Mutual Security Program.

Mr. Fairless and his committee, including Mr. John L. Lewis, who wasn't there, have just come back from a 50-day trip around the world. They also went to inspect our foreign aid program, but they took more time to do it than Mr. Hollister did.

THE REPORT WHICH Mr. Fairless and his commitee filed is very short and to the point. But you will read the report in vain if you are looking for a lot of places they went or what they saw or the people they talked to and what they were told.

They "name no names" as Mr. Fairless said. He thought it would be out of order for his committee of citizens to say that the amount of money we spend in any country was too much. He also said "It would be ridiculous to say that not one dollar had been wasted, and I'm not saying it."

Mr. Fairless and his associates make 40 recommendations for changing our mutual security program. But in spite of that, they find that it should and it can be continued at its present level of about eight billion dollars a year, for the indefinite future.

Next we all went to the White House, where an official whose name is not permitted to reveal was to explain the President's new drought relief message and program.

IT WAS JUST LIKE old times to go back to the White House. It was so reminiscent of the days when Mr. Henry Wallace and Mr. Rexford Guy Tugwell were explaining the Triple-A and all those other dear old New Deal programs. Only this official whose name it is not permitted to reveal explained some New Deal programs that are still going strong.

This official whose name it is not permitted to reveal has no idea what the new drought relief program would cost. He said in the last three years the administration has spent 658 million dollars on disaster relief of all kinds.

Then he gave us some figures on the various kinds of relief the administration has handed out for beef and pork purchases, government supluses, credit and so forth. They all added up to 842 million Dollars.

What a day.

"Singing Revival" To Be Conducted At Van Alstyne Church

A "Singing Revival" will be held at the First Methodist Church in Van Alstyne Monday, through Wednesday evening, March 18, 19 and 20. The services begin at 7:15 o'clock each evening, conducted by Glen Johnson, Minister of Music at the First Methodist Church in Dallas.

The coming of Mr. Johnson to the Van Alstyne church is an unusual opportunity for the Sherman-McKinney District. The public is invited to these "Services in Song."

An unusual opportunity is afforded the people of Van Alstyne and the Sherman-McKinney District and all who are interested in good music by the coming of Glen Johnson to the First Methodist Church of Van Alstyne. "Services in Song" will be held on each of three evenings, March 18, 19 and 20 at 7:15 p. m.

Mr. Johnson is recognized as one of America's leading ministers of sacred music. He is minister of music at First Methodist Church in Dallas.

His teaching career followed one year in Dallas Tech High and ten years as founder and head of the Music Department of Texas Western College in El Paso, a branch of the University of Texas. During this time, he took graduate work at the University of Southern California. In these years he devoted a large part of his energies to directing church choirs and developing community-wide festival programs.

During the war years, Mr. Johnson made his decision to enter the Ministry of Music completely, resigning from the college and beginning his church work at Trinity Methodist Church, El Paso, Texas, to work with Dr. Robert E. Goodrich Jr., the pastor. Five months later he followed Dr. Goodrich to First Methodist Church in Dallas where he has been for ten years. He developed a multiple choir program and has demonstrated that much can be achieved in instrumental music in a downtown church. For several years the Chancel Choir of First Methodist Church, Dallas, with its 135 members, has presented 12 to 15 separate cantatas and oratorios in addition to the regular morning and evening services on Sunday and a large community service program. Most of these cantatas are done with orchestra and include such major works as: "The Messiah" Bach "St. Matthew Passion" Brahm's "Requiem" Mozart's "Requiem" Mendelssohn's "Elipah" quieum" Mendmelssohn's "Elijah," Randall Thompson's "Testament of Freedom" Horatio Parker's "Hora Novissima" Hayden's "Creation" Verdi's "Requiem" Dello Joio's "Psalm of David" Honegger's "King David." Mr. Johnson and his choir are recipients of a plaque from the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and other city officials for their extended ministry beyond the doors of their church in the "building of a community under God." For the last six years one of these community effors has been a 250-voice interracial choir with full orchestra presenting an oratio as part of Brotherhood Week benefiting the negro youth of Dallas.

Probably Mr. Johnson's greatest contribution to Methodism was his writing and conducting the music score for the music drama "A Faith Is Born" presented at the General Conference in San Francisco in 1952. Three anthems containing in the score have been published to be performed independetly of the drama.

In 1956 Mr. Johnson led the music for the Hour of Evangelism at the General Conference of the Methodist Church in Minneapolis.

During 1956 he also led Methodism's Mission to America with Dr. Alan Walker, famous Australian minister and evangelist.

Glen Johnson married Virginia Lavigne in El Paso in 1939. They have four children, Glenda Gay, 16; Gary 13; Ginger 3; and "Rusty, 2.

A deeply consecrated Christian, Glen Johnson knows the old as well as the new music of the church. He believes his most important work to be the presentation of "Sermons in Song." It is this phase of his work that he will stress at Van Alstyne.

Johnson is a native Texan. He received his undergraduate degree from Baylor University, and for his gaduate study in music, attended the Univesity of Southern California.

Safety Council Says Injuries From Falls Can Be Expensive

A slip of the foot can cost a farm family more than a slip in the price of agricultural commodities, according to the National Safety Council.

The Council points out that falls are the leading source of all injuries to residents of rural America, and that they account for 25 per cent of all injuries to farm people.

Injuries from all mishaps, including falls, are expensive. A study in Iowa shows that the medical costs associated with 3,060 injuries amounted to $216,401, an average of $105 per case. Furthermore, lost time averaged 10 days per injury. Piled on top of the medical cost is the expense of hired labor which is sometimes necessary if the accident occurs at a critical work period on the farm.

Falls kill about 2,000 farm residents annually — and no one can estimate the cost of a life.

Good housekeeping both indoors and outdoors can substantially reduce tripping hazards, according to the Council. Around the farmyard, pick up loose bailing wire, boards and scrap metal. A place for everything and everything in its place is a sound safety motto, but make sure the place is a safe one. In the home, keep stairways clear of objjects. Toys can be dangerous if left scattered on the floor. A toy box is a practical safety device, the Council advises.

Where do most of the farm falls occur? Here are some figures from a study in Minnesota: in barns, 25 per cent; hay racks, 22 per cent; buildings, 11 per cent; barnyards, 7 per cent; haystacks, 7 per cent; scaffolds, 5 per cent; ladders, 4 per cent; trees, 3 per cent, and all others, 14 per cent.

By ROBERT E. GATELY

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (UP). — Coach of the year Frank McGuire is quick to give much credit for the success of his North Carolina basketball team to "the best assistant coach in the business."

And McGuire is not kidding when he says that James. Buck Freeman "meant a whole lot" to the Tar Heels this year.

Freeman, who brought 30 years of experience to his job as assistant to his onetime pupil, is a "great fundamentalist" and has been responsible for the development of yesterday's freshmen into today's Tar Hee lstars.

McGuire says that Freeman did a "tremendous job" teaching basketball fundamentals to such Tar Heel greats as All-American Lennie Rosenbluth and potential All-Americans Tommy Kearns, Pete Brennan, Joe Quigg and Bob Cunnigam.

The former St. John's coach also has been responsibel for setting up the defenses that played a big part in the Tar Heels' victory string this year.

Freedman does most of the scouting for North Carolina and his analysis of the styles of play of various opponents is a major factor in the team's success.

McGuire and Freeman confer regarding possible defenses before every game and "I think very, very highly" of his opinion, McGuire says.

During the games, Freeman keeps close tabs on the play of members of both teams and is ready to give McGuire whatever information he needs as soon as it is needed.

The big, whitehaired New York native also handles much of McGuire's correspondence and does a large part of the recruiting for the Tar Heels.

In the offseason, he teaches basketball to youngstes at Clair Bee's camp at the New York Military Acaremy, a job which gives him a chance to spot likely prospects for the Tar Heels.

Freeman, who admits to being "over 50" actually began his coaching career while still a student and 12-letter athlete at St. John's in Brooklyn. He won letters in basketball, baseball and football. On the side he coaches two New York high school teams.

Immediately after graduation in 1927, Freeman became head basketball coach and baseball coach at his alma mater and in 1931 added the duties of athletic director.

In his nine seasons at St. John's the Redmen compiled their greatest all time basketball record winning 179 games while losing only 31 for an .851 percentage.

His 1930-31 "Wonder Five" won the Eastern Intercollegiate Championship with a record of 21 wins and one loss. The year before that St. John's won 24 and lost one. Freeman's worst record with the Redmen was a highly respectable 13-8 in 1934-35 McGuire's punior year.

SPORT PARADE

BY OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP). — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

Mickey Mantle and Duke Snider, the major league home run kings, both are talking through their hats when they insist that they won't worry about trying to break Babe Ruth's record 60 homers this season but instead will try to fatten their averages.

You can bet your last paltry peso that if either one of them gets within striking distance he'll be swinging so hard he'll break his shoelaces.

It's no secret that hitters of this calibre can fatten their averages considerably by punching the ball. Willie Mays in 1954 had 34 homers at the All-Star break and, deciding to boost his .312 batting average after a confab with Leo Durocher, knocked only seven homers the rest of the season but won the batting crown with .345.

• • •

Ride In Cadillacs.

It was only after his chances at Ruth's mark had gone down the drain last season that Mantle admittedly "quit swinging from the cellar" and went on to win the batting championship with his .353 performance. And Snider, who led the National League with 43 homers, could have bettered his lowly .292 average by not going for the fences. The answer is that home run hitters still ride in Cadillacs.

The National Basketball Association, to preserve the tremendous gains made by the profesional sport should do somehing to provide better balance. Currently, the last place New York team of the Eastern Division has won more games than the first place Fort Wayne teams of the Western Division.

• • •

Following Famous Sires.

There are 19 colts entered in this year's Kentucky Derby whose puppies won the run for the roses. Two of them, Exiled Ace and Manteau, are sons of Citation but neither is owned by Calumet Farm which sent the last triple crown finner to the races.

When Marquetta track Coach Bus Shimek and pole vaulter Ed Hoyle arived in New York for the IC4A games, they couldn't get a cab because of the 16-foot pole they toted. A policeman finally got them a lift but it altered Shimek's outlook.

"From now on," he says, "I travel only with high jumpers."

NAIA Tourney Opens Today For Week's Run

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletic NAIA basketball tournament opened today for a week-long run with Pacific Lutheran of Parkland, Wash., given the best chance of winning the championship.

There was no defending champion this year since McNeese, La., college did not survive in its own region.

Officials gave Lutheran, undefeated in college play, top-seeding in the tournament. It plays its first game Tuesday.

Play in the mammoth 32-team field began at 11 a. m. with Eastern Illinois playing Highlands of New Mexico. Seven other games are scheduled today and tonight and eight more Tuesday to complete the first round.

Losers are eliminated.

The 32 teams represents 28 states. Texas has three entries and Tennessee and Illinois two each.

The brackets, in order, and starting times of games involving Southwest teams includes:

BASKETBALL

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

North Carolina, knowing that it faces the toughest job ever handed to the nation's No. 1 team, was squarely on the spot today as the four - ring circus known as "Tournament Time" opened in college basketball.

The top-ranked, unbeaten Tar Heels earned a berth in the NCAA tournament Saturday night when they won the Ailantic Coast Conference tourney, but Coach Frank McGuire's squad now stands less than halfway along the road to proving its No. 1 national ranking.

Never before in history has a team called the "nation's best" been asked to win as many post-season games in a row as the Tar Heels.

• • •

Need Five More.

The total is eight games—three in the ACC tourney, and then five more in the NCAA. By contrast, second - ranked Kansas will need to win only four games, all in the NCAA, to win the conference and so will third-ranked Kentucky and fourth-ranked Southern Methodist.

The Tar Heels wrapped up the ACC title with a 95-75 romp over South Carolina in the finals as their Lennie Rosenbluth outscored Grady Wallace, 38-28, in a duel of All-Americans.: Rosenbluth set a new league record with 106 points in the three tourney games, and Wallace also was over the old mark with a total of 100.

West Virginia nailed down the last berth in the NCAA tourney Saturday when it captured the Southern Conference championship with a 67-52 victory over Washington and Lee in the tourney finals. Six-10 Loloyed Sharrar, who had 50 points and 55 rebounds in three games outshone Mounutaineer teammate Hot Rod Hundley to win Most Valuable Player honors.

Tourney Action Listed.

The regular court season now is over, and here's the set-up on the four big post-season tournaments this week:

NCAA Major College: Opens tonight with a first -rounder at Pocatello, Idaho, in which Idaho State 24-2 is a slight choice over Hardin-Simmons 17-8 a substitute team from the Border Conference. Tuesday night there are six first-rounders — three tin New York, two in Chicago, and one in Oklahoma City. The eight first-round winners go into four regionals Friday and Saturday — at Philadelphia, Lexington, Ky., Dallas and Corrvallis, Ore. Regional winners go to the semi-finals and finals at Kansas City, March 22-23.

National Invitation: 12 teams open Saturday with three games Seattle and Bradley are the only seeded teams in the Madison Square Garden ccarnival, which also winds up on March 23.

NCAA Small College: The eight survivors o flast week's first and second rounders meet Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, at Evanston, Ill.

NAIA Tournament: 32 teams Weeklong play opens tonight in Kansas City, with eight first-rounders, then eight more Tuesday. Unbeaten Pacific Lutheran is top-seeded and favored.

SEED TREATMENTS TO CONTROL CERTAIN SOIL INSECTS

Good control of southern corn rootworms, wireworms and seed corn maggots has been obtained with dieldrin, lindane or heptachlor used as seed treatments on several different crops. Dieldrin or lindane should be used at the rate of 1 ounce and heptachlor, at 1 to 1½ ounces of actual toxicant mixed with 100 pounds of seed corn. Use 2 ounces of actual dieldrin of lindane or 2 to 3 ounces of actual heptachlor mixed in 100 pounds of grain sorghum. For example, if a 50 percent wettable powder of dieldrin is used, 2 ounces of this material would treat 100 pounds of seed corn or 4 ounces would treat 100 pounds of grain sorghum.

Dieldrin, lindane or heptachlor may be applied to the seed whether or not they were treated previously or will be treated with a fungicle. Avoid an overdose of insecticide on the seed. Excessive amounts may retard the growth of young plants.

It is important to distribute the insecticide evenly so that each seed will be coated. Several suggested methods for treating the seed may be used.

Corn or grain sorghum planted following a crop of small grains, corn, or any type of legume apt to become infested with these worms which normally feed on decaying organic matter.

Most seed which is purchased from a dealer is treated for control of seed born diseases but not for doil insects. The tags on the seed sack when purchased should indicate whether or not it had been treated.

The above mentioned chemicals are those recommended for soil insects such as wireworms, rootworms and seed corn maggots.

Caution: Seed treated with insecticides should not be used for food or feed purposes.

More children under 14 are killed by home accidents than by any single disease. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council warns that all medicines should be labeled and placed out of reach of children; firearms kept unloaded and stored in a safe place; matches and knives should be out of reach of youngsters; and scissors, pins and sharp tools are no good as playthings for children.

Falls are the home's greatest hazard, claiming a total of 14,000 lives annually in the nation, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. Burns are second, causing about 5,400 deaths annually while poison and carelessness with firearms each take about 1,000 lives yearly. Better keep the danger sign up around the house and see that acident hazards are removed, warns the Council.

The fifth annual training school for managers of farmer cooperatives will be held at Texas A&M College from March 18-21. Meeting place is the Memorial Student Center.

ON THE . . .

FARM FRONT

BY GAYLORD P. GODWIN

WASHINGTON (UP). — An Agriculture Department survey that more meat is eaten per person in the North Central region and the West than in other parts of the United States. The Northeast ranks next, the South lowest.

This was brought out in a household food consumption survey which covered only use of food at home.

The nation's eating habits were checked in 6,060 households representing all income classes in cities, rural non-form and farm areas.

The report provides patterns of consumption and money values for more than 200 items. These included fruits and vegetables, meats, poultry, fish, dairy products, cereals and bakery products, fats and oils, sugar, and sweets. The information will be useful to many kinds of businesses and to agricultural groups in determining food demand by type.

• • •

Northeast High In Sales.

Household food expenditures during the survey week in the Northeast region averaged $30.75, the highest of any area. In the North Central states the average was $28.21. In the West it was $29.57, and in the South, $21.45. For the United States as a whole it was $27.05.

Per person consumption of all meat in the North Central states was 3.38 pounds. The West almost matched this with 3.37 pounds. Northeast consumption was 3.07 pounds, while the South trailed with 2.58 pounds.

Western households on the average consumed a pound more of beef a wek. Households in the South used more flour, fats, sugar, and soups and purchased smaller amounts of bakery products.

The Northeast reported the smallest rate of use of flour per family among the four regions.

The survey showed farm families fare as well or better than non-farm families in all regions except the South. Southern farm residents are at the lowest point on the nation's meat consupmtion scale Because so much of the farm population is in the South, U. S. averages show less meat consumed per persons on farms than in towns and cities.

• • •

South Outlay Lower.

Farmers consume beef and pork in about the same proportion as town and city people in the North and Central and Northeast. In the West farm families show more partiality for beef than do town and city families. But in the South farm families swing to pork. Farm residents everywhere are small consumers of veal and lamb.

The survey by income shows that families with high income consume much more beef than do those with low incomes. Consumption of pork, however, was about the same for every income group.

The department pointed out that the average food outlay in the South is lower primarily because average money income is lower. Even urban families in the South generally had lower incomes than urban families in the rest of the country.

The survey showed that new food products have gained a place in households but have no caught up with the more conventional items. About one-fifth of the households reported having used concentrated orange juice at least once during the survey week. But nearly one-half used fresh oranges during the same period.

Flour mixes, such as pancake, cake, hot bread, and other kinds were used by four in 10 families at least once during the week.

PRUNE TREES CAREFULLY

Prune trees for a purpose, says Miss Sadie Hatfield, extension homestead improvement specialist. Plan carefully and prune moderately. Severe pruning or "de-horning" can permanently deform and injure trees.

Prune trees to make the place more comfortable, convenient, safe and attractive. Often trees can be shaped to improve their appearance. Low hanging limbs can be pruned off so that the lawn will be open and look more spacious. The health of the tree can be improved by removing dead, diseased or injured limbs.

Use good tools to do the job. A pruning saw and pruning shears are to remove diseased or injured limbs or to nip back high branches to make a tree form a dense shade.

Watch your pruning technique! Make clean cuts, flat or flush with the main limb or trunk. Stubs left by improper cutting may cause rotting of the heart wood . . . You may need to treat cuts on large limbs by painting with a pruning compound, such as orange shellac, to hasten healing. Most trees make oils to cover small cuts. Generally horticulturists advise putting nothing at all on a cut 2 inches or less in diameter.

If pruning is done now, Spring growth will soon hide the cuts.

NEWS FROM HOLLYWOOD

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP). — Topsy-turvy filmtown does things the hard way, transforming Broadway's dramatic stars into comics and making serious novels into musicals.

But this week MGM pulled off a real switcheroo. The studio has a Sadler's Wells ballerina doing a hoochie - coochie dance complete with bumps and grinds.

She's diminutive Taina pronounced Tina Elg, a Finnish beauty who takes to the burlesque art like Lassie goes for Kibble.

"I am enjoying myself immensely" Tiana said during lunch in the commissary.

"To be honest, I'm sick and tired of ballet."

A gray-eyed blonde with a bewitching accent, Taina has much the same elfin quality of Leslie Caron.

"There is no such thing as bumps and grinds in Finland" she smiled. "People there are devoted to ballet and rarely see any other dancing execpt in American movies.

"My ballet training goes back to the time I was six years old. My parents are both pianists, and they wanted me to become a dancer. So, when I was six they took me to the theater for the first time.

"There were no empty seats, but father knew all the musicians and I ended up watching the ballet from the top of the grand piano in the orchestra pit. I started dancing lessons when I was ten."

There after she toured Europe with a modern dance group, later joining Sadler's Wells and the Monte Carlo Ballet.

"Doing all this hip-swing for the picture is something of a vacation for me" Tina smiled. "There is little opportunity for one to throw her hips around in ballet. Usually the body is kept very rigid.

"But I do not want to sound as if I no longer love ballet. As soon as the movie is over I will return to my strict regime of ballet lessons."

The picture "Les Girls" is a veritable dance festival starring Gene Kelly, Mitzi Gaynor and English star Kay Kendall.

"My dance style isn't the only thing MGM wanted to change" Taina went on. "They held a 'name the star' contest. Nobody knows what the final choice was, but I refused to part with my own name. There aren't many like it, I'm sure.

"The studio wanted me to change it because translated Elg means moose. Somehow, they thought that wasn't a fitting name for a dancer."

Show Business Is "Murder" On Marriages

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP). — Show business is murder on marriage. But Shirley Jones and Jack Cassidy, a couple of honeymoonless newlyweds, figure there's one way to whip the problem — by working as a husband and wife team.

Among the younger entries in the tandem field, we already have Peter Lind Hayes — Mary Healy, Robert Sterling-Ann Jeffreys and Ernie Kovacs-Edie Adams. But the Cassidays, married since last August, hope to shape themselves into the most versatile of the family duos.

"The others do nightclubs or TV or occasionally, both" said Cassidy today. "But I think we'll be the only couple who'l lwork continuously together in all the mediums. We're even doing shows together."

◆ ◆ ◆

Working on Nightclub Act.

Jack, 29, and Shirley, 22, currently are in rehearsal for "The Beggar's Opera" a musical they teamed up in last summer in Cambridge, Mass. It's set for a two-week jaunt here beginning March 13.

The couple are working on a nightclub act and have just finished an album of show tunes for Columbia records. Over the past few months, they also have done three TV shows together—a "U. S. Steel Hour and two for "Lux Video Theatre.'

◆ ◆ ◆

Married Last August.

"We were married last August in Cambridge and we still haven't managed to get away together" said Shirley wistfully. "In fact, we've been trying to finish furnishing our apartment here in between jobs."

"What we're going to do right after this show" continued Jack "is take off for Jamaica — it'll be a kind of belated honeymoon. Then we'll take a house in Buck's county, Pa., and do some summer shows at the playhouse there."

Jack and Shirley met two years ago when they were both hired for a company of "Oklahoma" that toured Europe. He popped the question in Rome.

Modern Toys Put The Kids To Work; Also Train, Teach

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP). — Tour the five acres of toys on display in Manhattan today and wonder what became of child's play.

Modern toys put the kids to work. They train and teach, and give the child a shot at realism to go along with fantasy.

Toy vacuum cleaners sweep for real. Toy cooking kits turn little girls into culinary experts. Electric drills mke boys junior editions of the handyman around the house. Games teach spelling, history and the multiplication tables. Kits teach sewing.

◆ ◆ ◆

Toys Should Fit Age.

Eleven dolls, the world most popular toy, give a little girl lectures on how to brush her teeth, or be mamma's little helper. "A phonograph record concealed in the doll's back takes care of this. One doll is a realistic flirt. Weights in her skull make her roll her eyes like a live coquette.

"This trend is as it should be" said David Marx of the Toy Guidance Council, a group of experts who sugest toys to fit a child's age meet safety standards and provide educational value.

"Toys have become playtools rather than playthings" said Marx. "They develop a child's skill, reflect the adult life around him, train him to be sociable."

◆ ◆ ◆

Copying Adult World.

Argue with the council if you are one of those who "playtools' as a child were mud pies and a home-made sled. But the toys with a purpose are here to stay, if the display by the 1,600 exhibitors at the annual Toy Fair are any indication.

"The whole trend is to copying the adult world" said a spokesman for the Toy Manufacturers of the U. S. sponsors of this, the 54th annual fair. The fair, which runs through March 15, gives a preview of what later will fill Christmas stockings.

The toy industry estimates 1957 sales will climb to a record $1.5 billion, compared with last year's approximately $1.3 billion.

Men On "Operation Deepfreeze" Sweat Out Blessed Event

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP). — Navy men on "Operation Deep Freeze" in the Antarctic are sweating out a blessed event — the birth of the chicken ever hatched in the south polar regions.

If all goes well, the little chick will peck its way through its egg shell sometime this week-end in an improvised incubator at the Navy base at Little America. Wth It-iai base at Little America. With a little luck, the chick may have two or three "real cool" brothers or sisters by next Monday.

Lt Robert J. Adams of Memphis, Tenn., the Naval dentist presiding over the incubator emphasizes the importance of the impending birth this way:

◆ ◆ ◆

Chicks With Earmuffs.

"These will be fabulous fowls. When you consider what the eggs have been through, you almost expect the chicks to hatch wearing earmuffs."

The story of Little America's impending triumph was radioed to Navy headquarters here by an "Operation Deepfreeze" chaplain, Lt. John E. Zollar of Shelby, Mich. He said this is what happened:

Last month, the expedition's Globemaster transport planes returned to Antarctica from New Zealand, where they had been sent some week ealier to await repairs to landing strips.

The planes brought with them a huge supply of fresh produce, including fruits, vegetables and several crates of eggs which had been purchased in New Zealand stores.

◆ ◆ ◆

Dropped by Parachute.

At McMurdo Sound, the eggs were unloaded in sub-zero weather. Four dozen were dropped by parachute to the advanced outpost at the South Pole. Not a shell was cracked. Several dozen were placed aboard a Navy ski plane which flew them to Little America on Feb. 17.

It was here that Adams came into the picture. Wired with the true spirit of scinetific curiosity, he badgered Ship's Cook Richard H. Banasiak of Ballston Lake, N. Y., to let him find out if any of the eggs were fertile. Banasiak finally released six of the eggs on Odams' assurance that he was really investingating them in a future supply of fresh eggs and poultry.

Adams placed the eggs in a dental incubator and set the temperature at 100 degrees fahrenheit.

◆ ◆ ◆

Two, Plus Two Portables.

"Eight days later, on Feb. 25" radioed Chaplain Zollar, "Dr. Adams with bated breath candled the eggs. He was elated to find two positive embryos and two possibles."

"The dental laboratory is now the crossroads of Little America" the Chaplain reported. "Everyone wants to see the eggs. Strict visiting hours have been set up. Interest is teremendous. There is much speculation among all hands as to sex, color, breed and birthdate of our chicks."

The last word from Litle America was that the first chick is expected to hatch next Saturday or Sunday.

Navy men here are standing by for further news frm the hatchery at the bottom of the world.

A TIGHT SITUATION

HOLLYWOOD (UP). — Messenger girls at Universal-International studios have appealed a ruling from the front office which instructed them not the wear clothing such as toreador pants, Bermuda shorts or other tight-fitting apparel. "The girls wore them too well, or the clothes fit them too snugly, and this proved a distraction" a sudio spokesman said in explaining the ruling.

Alaska is more than twice the size of Texas.

Tanks Guarding Bangkok Corners

BANGKOK, Thailand (UP). — Government tanks stood guard at strategic street corners throughout Bangkok Wednesday while the capital quietly marked its fourth day since the abortive attempt to overthrow the government.

A ban on gatherings of more than five persons still was in force under the state of emergency decreed by Premier Pibul Songgram cessfu attempt to unseat te government.

A cabinet meeting was held this morning but no details of the session was disclosed.

WHO IS "FISHING?"

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP). — Clyde Ashby, 31-year-old trailer salesman was acquitted Thursday of charges that he fished without a licence on nearby Lake Mead after a friend verified his fish story. The friend told Justice of the Peace Art Olsen that Ashby was merely trying to "fish out" a fishing rod which had been lost in the lake.

Annual Scout Exposition Set For Fair Park

Plans for the 1957 Scout Exposition to be held in the Automobile Building, Fair Park, April 26th and 27th, were formulated at the first Exposition Committee meeting in the Baker Hotel, Thursday noon, said Dan C. Williams, who has been appointed Chairman of the 1957 Exposition by the Council President, Carl J. Rutland and Activities Chairman, Hoyt Sessions. Circle Ten Council is an agency of the Dallas County Community Chest and other Community Chests and United Funds in the area.

Mr. Williams named as his committee the following men: Vice-Chairmen, James S. Hudson and Toddie Lee Wynne, Jr.; Arrangements, R. L. Thornton, Jr.; Exhibits and Demonstrations, Dr. M. B. Bowers; Publicity, Watts; Budget, C. J. Rutland; Attendance, James W. Aston, and Reception, J. Eric Jonsson.

Tickets, which will be sold by Cubs, Scouts and Explorers at a cost of 75c per ticket, were issued throughout the Council at the same time between 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 7th. It has been announced that guest tickets will be made available to elementary school students. Children under school age will be admitted free at the door.

The Exposition, said Mr. Williams, is a great show where the public will walk around as at a Fair and will observe the hundreds of booths where our boys will be demonstrating various subjects in the Scouting program. It is expected that there will be over 250 booths in the show.

M. N. Leavitt, Director of Activities for Circle Ten Council, is Director of the show.

Mrs. John Chandler Of Chambersville Dies Sunday Morning

Mrs. Mary Mahala Chandler 81, life-long resident of Collin County, passed away at 11:20 a. m. Sunday in the City-County hospital after three week's illness. She was born in the Chambersville Community March 15, 1876, the daughter of J. M. and Elizabeth Chambers Bryan, and with the exception of a few years, had resided there most of her life. She was educated in the old Grayson College, at Whitewright, was a charter member of the McKinney Garden Club, a former member of Scott-Dickson Chapter United Daughters of the Confederacy, and active in the Methodist Church.

She was married in 1894 to John Chandler. Surviving are a daughter, Miss Bernice Chandler and two sons, Jake and Guy Chandler all of Chambersville; two brothers, John A. Bryan of McKinney and Dr. S. H. Bryan of Van Alstyne, and a sister, Mrs. John Berry of Melissa.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Turrentine-Jackson Funeral Chapel, conducted by Rev. Robert Langley, pastor of the Methodist Church at Chambersville and Rev. H. C. Hoy, pastor of the First Methodist Church in McKinney. Interment was in Pecan Grove Cemetery.

FRENCH ARREST REBELS

ALGIERS, Algeria, (UP). — Military police arrested 50 more Algerian "agents" of the outlawed National Liberation Front in the extensive drive to deprive the Mosley rebellion of its leadership, French military officials announced Wednesday.

French troops, meantime, were reported to have killed 29 rebels in three clashes in this North West African territory.

County Officers Report Several Week-End Arrests

The officers in the Sheriff's Department were quite busy over the week-end reporting a number of arrests for various offenses.

Deputies Brooks and Thomas arrested a man in Nevada Saturday shortly after midnight, for driving while intoxicated.

Three arrests were made at Plano after midnight Saturday by Deputies Vaughn and Mahan who report one was for driving without a license; one for excessive noise with a motor vehicle and another for drunkenness and disturbance. Sunday they arrested two Plano boys placing them in jail, but releasing them Monday.

They also investigated a wreck at the roadside park on Highway 121, where one car, driven by Hurley Johnson of Plano, received some $100 damage. The other car driven by Albert D. Wilson of Fort Worth was a total loss.

Deputies Standerfer and Ramsey made several liquor raids Saturday afternoon and also investigated a disurbance at Copeville Sunday afternoon.

There were 16 prisoners in the county jail Monday, according to office deputy, Fred Barnes.

'Flexible Pricing' Insurance Would Save Millions

FORT WORTH (UP). — Supporters of a bill to permit "flexible pricing" of general casualty insurance in Texas claims that it would save residents of Texas "millions of dollars" a year.

At present, the State Insurance Commission is required by law to set minimum rates on general casualty insurance — burglary and theft, automobile, plate glass, boiler and machinery insurance—and casualty and surety bonds.

Bills have been introduced in the state House and Senate to allow flexible pricing. That is, companies could sell insurance at any rate, so long as the Insurance Commission approves it if the bills pass.

Sees 20-30 Percent Cut.

Keith Kelly, a lawyer who represents the National Association of Independent Insurers, which favors flexible pricing, said he believes premium rates could be cut 20-30 per cent by competition.

"We feel that there is no competition in Texas. It's that fair trade thing all over again," he said.

According to Kelly, the National Bureau of Casualty and Insurance companies sets rates for the companies that belong to it over the whole country. But Texas is the only state in which minimum rates are set by the state itself.

The National Association of Independent Insurers, which has 346 members, including 92 that operate in Texas, refuses to follow a common premium rate policy.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH NEWS

— USTIN Tex. — If you think you can't do anything about the weather you'r dead wrong. Ask the State Health Department. They'll tell you all of us, assuming normalcy, are constantly doing something about it.

We are all equipped with our own private thermostat. When atmospheric temperature rise or fall from the 08.6 degrees which is normal body temperaure, the themostat goes into action.

This built-in regulator is a tiny maze of nerve cells in the midbrain. If the day is hot, it re-routes blood from internal organs to skin capillaries, diluting the flow with fluids drawn from skin and muscle tissue and from the liver. Sweat glands on skin surfaces dilute and exude perspiration. Body temperature is reduced by the dilution of blood and exudation of sweat. When the sweat evaporates your skin cools off.

If the day is cold the thermostat concentrates the blood and diminishes the flow through skin capilaries. Sweating is minimal and the blood coarses through internal organs deep within the body. Result: you feel cold and have to put on a coat or extra blanket to say comfortable.

As a fact of human physiology, body temperture of warm-blooded animals remains unchanged at 98.6 degrees, even though the air temperautre might vary from zero to over 100 degrees.

Provided the air is pefectly dry, a man can maintain nomal temperature in an atmosphere that will actually grill a beefsteak. There are experimental cases on record where human subjects, by drinking great quantities of water to sustain perspiration and stripping to the waist to facilitate evaporation have withstood temperatures up to 260 degrees for extended periods without ill effects.

But the subjects would be in serious trouble if they tried to endure 120-degrees in a damp, humid atmosphere. Sweat evaporation is influenced by the extent to which the atmosphere is already saturated with moisture. In high humidity sweat merely drips from the skin and in no way increases heat loss.

As a Texan, accustomed to hot weather, you are probably more comfortable when the humidity is about 65 per cent that is, when the air is 65 per cent saturated.

The fatter a person is the better he can withstand cold. Fat acts as a blanket. Conversely, fat people suffer more in hot weather.

And if you're a man you're more susceptible to cold than your wife. You both have insulating layers of fat but hers is naturally thicker. Therefore, while it may be socially gallant it is physiologically foolish to relinquish your coat to your wrapless lady when you are both caught out in the cold. You need it worse than she does.

Reunification Of Germany To Be Rushed

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Pressure on Soviet Russia to agree to the reunification of Germany is likely to increase steadily in the next few months.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has made the unification issue the No. 1 topic in all discussions with foreign governments.

He is reminding the Soviet government at every opportunity that unification to him is an urgent matter, and that relations between Russia and West Germany never can be normal until West and East Germany are joined.

◆ ◆ ◆

Unification Studied.

At the same time, Adenauer has started to seek the support of the United States and other allied governments in new demands that the 12-year separation of the two parts of Germany be ended.

Considerable emphasis was put on reunification in the talks in Washington last week between Western German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

A committee of American German, British and French experts started a study of the unification problem in Washington last week.

◆ ◆ ◆

Meetings April 24.

This committee was organized as the result of the Brentano-Dulles talks. A joint communique issued at the end of their talks said that unification remained a "fundamental objective."

It was announced in Bonn, the West German capital, last Friday that German ambassadors to the United States, Canada and all West European governments have been summoned to meet in West Berlin on April 24.

There is no doubt that unification will be the chief topic for discussion at this meeting.

◆ ◆ ◆

Adenauer To See Ike.

Also, the fact that the meeting is to be held in Berlin, instead of Bonn, is a fresh reminder to the Russians that Adenauer looks forward to the day when Berlin again will be the all-German capital.

It is indicated that Adenauer will press the unification question when foreign ministers of members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meet in Bonn on May 2.

Immediately after that, Adenauer is expected to visit President Eisenhower in Washington.

This meeting may well result in a decision to make a demand on the soviet government that it agree to a realistic discussion of unification.

Governor Makes New Bid For Public Support

AUSTIN (UP). — Gov. Price Daniel made an unprecedented bid for public support of his proposal to create a "nonpolitical, nonpartisan state law enforcement commission."

He called it an important "weapon" in his "crusade for honesty, integrity and better law enforcement."

The governor reminded newsmen he has tagged his proposal as an emergency, and said it will be introduced "early next week" in the House. He said the bill will be sponsored by Reps. R. H. Cory of Victoria, J. E. Winfree of Houston and others.

◆ ◆ ◆

11 Grand Jurors Proposed.

The commission would be composed of a grand juror from each of the 11 Court of Civil Appeals districts, selected at district meetings of county grand jury foremen. A twelfth member, the chairman, would be appointed by the chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court and would be a person of previous judicial experience.

Finds of the commission would be reported to the governor, the legislature and local grand juries.

"The spotlight of truth and strict law enforcement are the surest means of preventing violations of the law and showing the world that dishonesty is the exception rather than the rule in Texas government," the governor said.

He spoke out against "eaggerated accounts of official conduct by political demagogues and out-of-state publications."

The governor was asked to name names. He declined.

Budget Chief Sees Possibility Of Tax Cut

By VINCENT J. BURKE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP).—President Eisenhower's budget chief today there may be a big enough federal surplus next year for a tax cut if the line is held on spending.

Percival F. Brundage, director of the budget, said the present governoment spending level plus an expanding economy should show up next spring as a "potential surplus" of $5-$6 billion for the 1959 fiscal year, which starts July 1, 1958.

"Now, whether you would want to apply that to a tax cut or whether you want to apply it to debt retirement, I think, would depend on the conditions of the economy at that time," he said in a copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report.

◆ ◆ ◆

Foresees Tax Cut.

At another point Brundage said if federal can be held to between $70-72 billion "for a couple of years" the economy will "give enough bounce, enough receipts, to be able to have a tax cut."

This is one of the first hints given by the Eisenhower administration as to when tax cuts may be recommended.

Many members of Congress, including some GOP leaders, are urging a sharp cut in Mr. Eisenhower's $72 billion fiscal 1958 budget in hopes of an income tax cut this year.

But Brundage said there is no way to slash spending as much as $5-$10 billion, as called for by some, without "cutting programs." He added that Mr. Eisenhower "could cut the programs . . . but the people certainly seem to ask for all of them."

COME NOW, HENRY

DETROIT (UP). — Henry Ford has been driving the same car, since 1923 for a total of 450,000 miles. Rev. Ford, 82, a retired Baptist minister, says his ancient Willys-Knight sedan is in "good shape" because "I don't know anything about how it works. When something goes wrong I get a mechanic."

SPANIEL SPOILS SEARCH

ATLANTA (UP). — Police called off a search of a suspected site of an illegal whiskey cache because of a black cocker spaniel. Detective W. K. Perry said he was trying to reach a second-floor apartment when the dog, a mother guarding her puppies, sank her teeth in his leg. Perry went to a hospital for treatment and police gave up the search.

Utah Farmers All Set For Crickets If Invasion Comes

By RICHARD B. LANEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

SALT LAKE CITY —(UP).— Hordes of Mormon crickets, which almost wiped out pioneer Utah in 1848 by eating most of its crops, may be on the move against western farmlands in 1957.

Dr. Don M. Rees, head of the University of Utah zoology department, pointed out that sporadically armies of the voracious insects that plagued Mormon pioneers rise up and demolish crops throughout the West.

No one can predict exactly when the crickets will strike. But when they do they destroy most crops consumed by man and many crops that feed farm animals.

An army of crickets has been known to travel up to two and one-half miles in a single day, eating almost every plant in sight except the larger bushes and trees.

The cricket infestation of 1848 has become a part of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) Church theology.

The insects, which the frontier settlers had never seen before, suddenly came out of the desert and denuded farmland the pioneers had been depending on to provide food for their second year in the Salt Lake Valley.

◆ ◆ ◆

Seagulls Helped.

Mormon leaders called upon church faithful to pray for deliverance from "the frightful bug—a cross between the spider and the buffalo" as some called it.

Church members now believe those prayers were answered. For huge flocks of segulls suddenly swooped down on the cricket hordes, eating their fill of the insects, disgorging into Great Salt Lake, and coming back for more until the infestation was wiped out.

The Mormon cricket is actually a wingless, long-horned grasshopper with a heavy, dark-brown body about one and a quarter inches long. It cannot fly, and can't jump very far.

The instatiable insects are found mainly west of the Rocky Mountains but also have damaged crops in the Missouri River country.

Rees said Utah and other states have had Mormon cricket infestations as large as the cricket invasion of 1848 but that science has developed methods for controlling the insects since the old days.

Even flame-throwers have been used to fight off Mormon cricket invasions. But aerial spraying and poisoned wheat or oats are more often used to kill the crop-destroying pests.

◆ ◆ ◆

They're Prepared

Rees warned that there probably will be more Mormon cricket invasions next year in states having a warm spring without a cold snap.

The zoologist explained that the adult crickets lay their eggs in the fall. The cricket embryo starts to develop in the eggs in the fall, is dormant during the winter but is reactivated during the spring and starts to develop again.

This spring "reactivation" period is the critical time in the birth of the Mormon cricket. The embryo can stand freezing weather during the winter when it is dormant. But cold temperatures in the spring will kill the reactivating embryo.

Matured Mormon crickets feed on more than 250 different kinds of range plants. In Nevada they once damaged more than two million acres of land with losses in livestock-carrying capacity of up to 40 per cent.

But farmers need no longer fear the Mormon cricket as much as they once did.

If there's mild spring weather that produces a Mormon cricket invasion this year, farmers can call on the 40 aerial spraying planes the U.S. Department of Agriculture has stationed throughout the West to deal death to the little insect with the big appetite.

Child Expert Says Kids Lack Outlets

By HUGH ROBERTSON JR
United Press Staff Correspondent

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP). — Youngsters just don't have the chance to let off steam these days, according to Dr. William J. Von Lackum, director of the Gailor Psychiatric Hospital's Child Guidance Clinic.

There are laws against shooting BB guns and firecrackers in most states he pointed out.

"Where's a boy going to dig his cave today?" he asked.

You can't say it's neurotic when a boy wants to run off and go fishing. Two of the world's best known 'juvenile delinquents' were Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn."

Devolpment in a chid, Von Lackum explained, is development of certain motor skills, emotional controls, social capacities and other factors. This plan was laid many, many years ago and children are the same as then.

◆ ◆ ◆

Adults Should Lead.

"But' added Von Lackum "the world isn't."

There are getting to be fewer corner lots in which to play ball. Besides a boy has to be almost an expert to get on such ball teams as do find places to play, Von Lackum continued.

He also pointed out that even after school jobs so plentiful when today's adults were children are scarce now.

"I'm not calling for a 'back to nature' movement" he said "What is needed is interested adult leadership. And that doesn't mean adult domination."

Von Lackum suggested that a police-supervised rifle range, for example, would provide a healthy outlet for young energy and emotion.

Adults should discuss the problem and try to come up with some fresh ideas, keeping in mind that what is normal for a child may not appear normal to a grownup.

Cheese will stay moist if wrapped in a cloth moistened with vinegar and stored in a covered dish in a gas refrigerator. Re-moisten the cloth once each week.
